President’s Message

Volunteers Make a Difference

By Fourth District PTA President Bev Berryman

You’re going to make a difference.
A lot of times it won’t be huge, it won’t be visible even.
BUT, it will matter just the same.

-Commissioner Gordon

April 10th through April 16th is National Volunteer Week. I would like to THANK all of our volunteers for the work that you do each day in our schools and communities. You truly make a difference in the lives of our children and in the communities that we live in.

Each year, it gets harder and harder to recruit and retain our trusty volunteers. As our environment changes, so must we. It is a time to look outside the box at what motivates people to volunteer and adjust from the way we have always done things to what works now.

This is usually the time of the year when school PTA’s are hosting many events. Need more volunteers? It is time to look the diverse population that we serve and consider asking people to volunteer their time face to face instead of communicating by email. Here are some other ideas to get volunteers:

- Consider asking “graduated” parents to come back and help out at school wide functions, allowing your current parent volunteers to enjoy the event with their students.
- Ask recent retirees to volunteer. This can be staff members or even grandparents.
- Ask senior citizens to help. Most will want to volunteer during the day since they may not feel comfortable driving at night.
- Reach out to Corporations. Some corporations will allow staff members to give back to their communities.
- Engage your youth more effectively. Young volunteers can be invaluable to the PTA. They bring ideas, excitement, energy, enthusiasm, loyalty and perspective.

Sacramento Safari 2016 - Oh What a Trip!
By Fourth District PTA Sacramento Safari Chair, Kim Anderson

On February 22 – 23, about 75 Orange County PTA members made the jaunt to Sacramento for our annual Fourth District PTA Safari trip and, according to our attendee evaluations, it was a resounding success!

Fourteen councils were represented: Anaheim Elementary, Buena Park, Capistrano Unified, Cypress, Fullerton, Harbor, Huntington Union, Irvine, Laguna Beach, Los Alamitos, Orange, Placentia Yorba Linda, Saddleback and Santa Ana. We also had two members from 23rd District PTA (Riverside) join us.

We heard from 14 amazing speakers: California Secretary of State, Alex Padilla; Senate President Pro Tem, Kevin de León; Assembly Education Chair, Patrick O’Donnell; State Board of Education Vice President, Dr. Ilene Straus; California Teachers Association President, Eric Heins; California School Boards Association Chief of Staff, Paul Richman; Children Now President, Ted Lempert; Assembly Speaker Toni Atkins’ Chief of Staff, Rick Simpson; Senator Janet Nguyen; Assembly Member Rocky Chávez; Principal Fiscal & Policy Analyst from Legislative Analyst’s Office, Edgar Cabral; and California State PTA leaders – Justine Fischer, Shayne Silva and Sherry Griffith.

Highlights of what we heard include:
• This is an exciting time for education, with new standards, teaching materials, training, assessments and accountability.
• The new accountability system will have a dashboard of multiple measures.
• A revised LCAP rubric will be done by this Fall.
• We have to make strategic investments education – it is the great equalizer.
• California is nowhere close to adequately funding public education.
• Any hope of a stable funding source likely needs to come from the local level – income tax, sales tax, excise tax, sin tax, etc.
• Investment in high quality early childhood education is critical, which is a priority to the incoming Speaker of the Assembly, Anthony Rendon.
• CAPTA is working to obtain $1 billion of one-time funding from the state for family engagement and is sponsoring AB 2680, which would designate funding for family engagement.
• CAPTA objects to the release of student data as demanded in the Morgan Hill case.
• CAPTA supports the $9 billion school facilities bond that is currently on the November 2016 ballot. There is concern that if this and the Prop 30 extension are both on the same ballot, either one, or both, will fail.
• This year’s education budget looks very good, although not as good as last year.
• The state needs to address the teacher shortage.
• The Secretary of State’s office is working hard to increase voter turnout.

We made visits to all of our Orange County legislator offices in small groups on Tuesday afternoon and advocated for the following:
✓ Elimination of the Opportunity Gap and the Achievement Gap.
✓ Improvement of teacher recruitment and retention.
✓ Securing adequate and stable funding for public education.

A full report is available on our website, which includes some fun photos from our trip!
The Fourth District Special Education Committee is committed to helping get useful information out to all of the parents of Special Education children.

It is our goal to work with Community Advisory Committees to share information and resources.

You may be wondering what CAC is. Every Special Education Local Plan Area (SELPA) is required to establish a Community Advisory Committee (CAC)

The CAC is a collaborative partnership of parents, educators, and community members. Its purpose is threefold.

1. Review the local plan (local policies, procedures and programs) to ensure it is consistent with state laws, regulations, and policies for Special Education.
2. Provide parent education opportunities, give families an opportunity to communicate with district administrators, connect with other parents, and share resources and support.
3. Support activities on behalf of individuals with exceptional needs.

The Capistrano Unified School District has a wonderful, informative website which has a wealth of information and resources. We invite you to visit the website at http://sped-capousd-ca.schoolloop.com/ Please share it with your school community. We would also like to invite any interested parents to attend one of the CAC meetings held at the CUSD district offices. The calendar is posted on the above website.

Please share this information with your schools. We would love to connect with other CAC’s within 4th district, and offer any guidance that might be needed, share information, or simply meet fellow Chair-people! Please contact us at vhoggatt@pacbell.net or by phone at 949-370-4573.

Once you’ve successfully secured a pool of volunteers, it is important to keep them! Once you “lose” a volunteer, it is hard to get them back. Here are some ideas to retain volunteers:

- Provide meaningful work.
- People enjoy diverse tasks and projects that are organized and do not “waste” their time.
- Respect the work that they accomplish.
  - Ask them and accept their recommendations.
  - Provide them with the resources to do the work.
- Offer personal growth.
  - Help them acquire new skills and provide opportunities that they may not get outside.
  - Provide them the chance to grow with the program.
- And most importantly – Give Appreciation!

As the school year is coming to an end, please remember that what you do each day makes a difference in the lives of those we serve... sometimes it is not visible, but it matters just the same!

Continue to use your superpowers to accomplish great things for kids and I thank you again for what you do each day.
The Importance of Reading to Children

By Al Mijares, Ph.D., OC Superintendent of Schools

It’s been said that a single act of kindness can grow roots in all directions. If that’s true, what would happen if we pledged to commit a million acts of kindness? Or even a billion?

We intend to find out. Beginning in May, the Orange County Department of Education will launch a new initiative asking the citizens of Orange County to pursue the goal of performing 1 billion acts of kindness throughout the county.

This is admittedly an ambitious undertaking, perhaps even audacious in its scope. But the current climate of social fragmentation and political polarization calls for something big, and between our local school districts and community partners, I believe we have all the pieces in place to make it happen.

What constitutes an act of kindness? Well, that’s somewhat subjective. It could be as simple as picking up a discarded cup along the sidewalk or allowing a car to merge in front of you on a busy interchange. Or it could be more involved, like visiting a home for senior citizens, joining a beach clean-up or volunteering at a local animal shelter. No matter the size, it’s about doing something kind with no expectations of reciprocity.

In 2013, the Anaheim Elementary School District joined a citywide effort to carry out a “Million Acts of Kindness,” and the results were remarkable. The students of Anaheim were inspired by the challenge, and they continued to embrace the premise even after their goal was met.

By scaling up to include a county of more than 3 million residents, we have the potential to build a positive social and cultural infrastructure by connecting our shared values and enhancing our relationships with one another. And there are critical lessons for our students as well. Beyond the emphasis on the “the four Cs” of communication, collaboration, critical thinking and creativity, we have an extraordinary opportunity to promote the fifth C -- character.

Starting May 5, you will be invited to share each act of kindness on your computer or smartphone at OCkindness.org. I would also encourage you to post your good deeds on social media, using a hashtag to be announced soon. Each entry will be counted toward our total.

Once again, the “how” is entirely up to you. But the benefits will extend to all of us.

The Importance of College and Career Readiness

By 4th District VP of Education, Health & Community Concerns, Marilyn Amato

College and Career readiness refers to the content knowledge, skills, and habits that students must possess to be successful in postsecondary education or training that leads to a sustaining career. A student who is ready for college should be able to succeed in entry-level credit-bearing college courses without the need for remedial or developmental coursework.

It is interesting to note that college and career readiness is not achieved for all unless there is a wide range of options available. Not every student needs exactly the same proficiency in each of these areas. And it acknowledges the reality that different programs of study can require different levels of entry skills and knowledge.

A student’s interests influence the precise knowledge and skill profile necessary to be ready for postsecondary studies in their field of interest recognizing the fact that a critical component for success is that the student is at the center of the process requiring a student’s buy-in.

Analyses of college courses reveal that the learning skills and foundational knowledge associated with college success overlap considerably those necessary for success in training programs that lead to careers. Given this overlap, it serves no useful purpose to separate students into two groups, one bound for college, the other for work.

All students aspire to enter the workforce, and, to do so; all will need a comparable set of foundational skills and learning abilities if they are to succeed.

Taking this information into consideration what skills need to be taught in order for success? All students should have these prerequisites: proficiency in reading a wide range of materials and informational texts, fluent writing in several modes, most notably expository and descriptive, quantitative literacy through algebra and including geometry, combined with the ability to understand and interpret data, comprehension of the scientific method and organization of knowledge in the sciences, awareness of social systems and the study of these systems, basic proficiency in a second language, basic awareness of other cultures, and experiences in and appreciation of creative and expressive arts.

Educators must rethink remediation recognizing the necessity of core skills, but also recognizing various careers require different skill sets. Grading should be based on competency of skills and better ways of measure these skills need to be developed. High school graduation must focus of skills, not just certificates.

Research has shown this is the first time the labor force is decreasing at the same time as the economy and that college is no longer an opportunity, it is now a necessity. Therefore, college and career information must be given early to help raise student aspirations. The rigor of high school curriculum is a key indicator for whether a student will earn a college degree after graduation from high school and that the rigor of the high school course work is more important than parent education level, family income, or race/ethnicity in predicting whether a student will earn a postsecondary degree (Adelman, 1999, 2006).
David T. Conley and his research team spent more than a decade to develop the Four Keys to College and Career Readiness. The keys are:

1). Cognitive Strategies - Formulating hypotheses and developing problem-solving strategies, identifying sources and collecting information, analyzing and evaluating findings or conflicting viewpoints, organizing and constructing work products in a variety of formats, and monitoring and confirming the precision and accuracy of all work produced.

2). Content Knowledge - Technical knowledge and skills associated with career aspirations, the ways in which students interact with content knowledge, the perceived value of knowledge, the effort students are willing to expend to learn necessary content, and students’ attribution of success or failure in mastering this knowledge.

3). Learning Skills and Techniques - Ownership of learning includes: goal setting; persistence; self-awareness; motivation; progress monitoring; help seeking; and self-efficacy. Learning techniques include: time management; study skills; strategic reading; memorization techniques; collaborative learning; technology skills; and self-monitoring.

4). Transition Knowledge and Skills – Understanding academic expectations for postsecondary program admission, understanding financial aid options and procedures, concentrating on a career pathway or major, comprehension of college-level and workforce norms and expectations, and working as a self-advocate within the institutional framework of postsecondary programs.

Mensaje del Presidente
Voluntarios hacen una diferencia

Por la presidenta del Cuarto Distrito de la PTA Bev Berryman

Vas a hacer una diferencia.
Una gran cantidad de veces no va a ser enorme, no va a ser visible incluso.
PERO, tendrá importancia de la misma.

-Comisaria Gordon

10 de abril al 16 de abril de es la Semana Nacional de Voluntarios. Me gustaría dar las gracias a todos los voluntarios para el trabajo que hacen cada día en nuestras escuelas y comunidades. Lo que realmente hace una diferencia en las vidas de nuestros hijos y en las comunidades en las que vivimos.

Cada año, se vuelve más difícil reclutar y retener a los voluntarios de confianza. Debemos cambiar con el entorno, como cambia el entorno. Es un tiempo para mirar fuera de la caja a lo que motiva a la gente para ser voluntario y ajuste de la forma en la que siempre hemos hecho las cosas a lo que funciona ahora.

Esta suele ser la época del año cuando la PTA escolares están organizando muchos eventos. ¿Necesita más voluntarios? Es hora de mirar la población diversa que servimos y considerar pedir a la gente a donar su vez cara a cara en lugar de comunicarse por correo electrónico. Aquí están algunas otras ideas para obtener voluntarios:

- Considere pedir "gradual" padres para volver y ayudar en las funciones de toda la escuela, permitiendo que sus padres voluntarios actuales para disfrutar del evento con sus estudiantes.
- Pregunta jubilados recientes para ser voluntario. Esto puede ser miembros del personal o incluso abuelos.
- Pregunta de la ciudadano mayores para ayudar. La mayoría querrá ser voluntario durante el día, ya que no pueden sentir conducción cómoda en la noche.
- Contactar con corporaciones. Algunas empresas permitirán a los miembros del personal para ayudar a sus comunidades.
- Involucrar a su juventud de manera más eficaz. Los jóvenes voluntarios pueden ser de gran valor para el PTA. Ellos traen ideas, emoción, energía, entusiasmo, lealtad y perspectiva.

Una vez protegido con éxito un grupo de voluntarios, es importante mantenerlos! Una vez que "pierde" un voluntario, es difícil recuperarlos. Aquí están algunas ideas para retener a los voluntarios:

- Proporcionar un trabajo significativo.
- La gente disfruta de diversas tareas y proyectos que están organizados y no se "desperdician" su tiempo.
- Respetar el trabajo que cumplir.
  - Pídeles y aceptar sus recomendaciones.
  - Les proporcionan los recursos para hacer el trabajo.
- Ofrecer el crecimiento personal.
  - Ayuda a adquirir nuevas habilidades y proporcionar oportunidades que no pueden salir a la calle.
  - Proporcionar a la oportunidad de crecer con el programa.
- Y lo más importante - Da Valoración!

A medida que el año escolar está llegando a su fin, por favor, recuerde que lo que haces cada día hace una diferencia en las vidas de aquellos a quienes servimos ... a veces no es visible, pero que importe lo mismo!

Seguir utilizando sus superpoderes para lograr grandes cosas para los niños y les agradezco una vez más por lo que haces cada día

Es hora de "reserva la fecha" para entrenamiento de primavera! Marque su calendario para el sábado, 4º June de 8:30 am-3:00 pm.
